

The University of Mississippi

Relationship to Other IHL Institutions

Summary/Purpose: The purpose of this policy is to define the relationship The University of Mississippi has to other IHL institutions.

The University of Mississippi serves as the preeminent institution within the IHL system in those programmatic areas in which it is the sole provider of services (Law, Medicine, Pharmacy, Dentistry, and some other Health Sciences). In those areas of academic programming that it shares with other Comprehensive Universities (Business, Teacher Education, Engineering, etc.), it provides a program of quality education for students choosing to attend Ole Miss. The University also offers programs designed to foster scholarship (Barksdale Honors College), leadership (Trent Lott Leadership Institute), and an international perspective (Croft International Study), as well as providing geographic convenience.

The University extends the instructional and public service activities described above throughout northern and central Mississippi with degree program offerings in Oxford, Jackson, Tupelo, and Southaven, while providing more limited instructional services at additional locations in cooperation with other IHL institutions and community colleges.

In execution of its core mission, the University cooperates with other IHL institutions as well as with federal and state agencies in pursuing an active research agenda in the areas of academic focus identified above.
